

Henry Cesena

Annuity Specialist

*H*enry began his insurance career in 1999 working with clients in estate preservation using indexed annuity strategies. Over the years, he expanded his personal experience to include working with Life, Medical Supplements, Health, LTC and Annuities. This combination has given him a well rounded cross-selling experience.

By putting to use his varied background and staying abreast of the industry, Henry has proven himself to be a valuable resource for producers looking to increase their current selling opportunities and broaden their avenues of income by learning new products and marketing concepts.

Through application of his knowledge and experience, producers are increasing both the size and scope of their Life Insurance and Annuity business.
